

What is #0to100xEngineer Challenge?

→ It is a 100-day challenge to learn gen AI, build credibility, consistency and distribution to attract opportunities and gain visibility for your hard work.

The #0to100xEngineer challenge was born from the belief that success lies in consistent effort and public sharing.

We want to emulate the success of this challenge and help members of the community get started on their journey to become a 100xEngineer.

By dedicating just one hour a day to learning generative AI and openly documenting your journey, you cultivate a powerful habit of growth.

Sharing your work publicly not only keeps you accountable but also invites serendipity - attracting opportunities, connections, and recognition.

Through this challenge, you embark on a transformative journey where small, daily actions compound into remarkable achievements.

Weekly Spotlight:

→ Each week, the best work published by participants will be nominated for the "100x Project Showcase of the Week". Winners will get special mention and feature on our social media.

Weekly Consistency Award:

→ Dedication pays off! The most committed participant each week earns the title of "100x Engineer of the Week."

Monthly Champion:

→ Monthly excellence has its rewards! Each month we'll pick the and award "100x Engineer of the Month" chosen by our panel of expert judges. That will get a special recognition along with some exciting rewards.

Milestone Madness:

→ Begin the #0to100xEngineer journey and hit the 25, 50, 75, and 100-day milestones to unlock extraordinary rewards. Mentorship sessions, exclusive merch, priority access to opportunities, and a spot in our social media "Hall of Fame."

Important Note: Your projects need to be shared online to be eligible for awards. It's time to get creative, share your progress, and clinch those wins!

Rules

- Dedicate one hour to learning Generative AI everyday.
- Document and share your daily progress with #0to100xEngineer hashtag and tag @100xEngineer across social media.
- Engage with the 100x community by reposting and sharing posts of other participants.

#0to100xEngineer

100X

How do I participate in #Oto100xEngineer challenge?

→ You can participate by posting about your learnings and updates from the challenge with the hashtag #Oto100xEngineer across social media. (Twitter, LinkedIn, Instagram, YouTube)

What are the benefits of #Oto100xEngineer?

Learning in public consistently helps you build proof of work and lets you leverage the network of people sharing your work. By putting yourself out there and consistently sharing your journey, you can attract the attention of industry leaders and unlock a world of opportunities. You are just a repost away from unlocking your next gig.

We would like to highlight Pavan Gandhi, a student from our community who embarked on the #Oto100xEngineer challenge along with several other members of the 100x community. His consistency and progress caught the attention of not only our team but Varun Mayya himself, even getting a repost on his Instagram story.

To throw a little fun into the mix, we have reserved special recognition and prizes for completing 25, 50, 75, and 100 days of the challenge. Rewards include one-on-one sessions with mentors, exclusive merch, priority access to placements, and induction into the "Hall of Fame" on social media.

All it takes is one hour a day and courage to share your work with the world. Embrace the power of consistency and vulnerability, and watch as luck becomes your ally on the path to becoming a 100x Engineer. Let's make it happen together! 💪