The image shows a Figma design interface for a mobile application. The main canvas displays a dark-themed mobile screen with a navigation bar at the top and a feed of tweets below. A modal window for sign-up is overlaid on the screen. The Figma interface includes a toolbar at the top with various icons, a sidebar on the left for navigating pages and screens, and a panel on the right for managing local variables, styles, and colors. The overall theme is dark, with white text and light-colored UI elements.
